1. INTRODUCTION

The Companies Act 1967 (“Companies Act”) has been amended to introduce requirements for foreign companies to maintain registers of nominee shareholders under new sections 386ALA and 386ALB of the Companies Act. This requirement takes effect from 4 October 2022.

This Guidance is issued by the Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority (“ACRA”) to help foreign companies understand and comply with the requirements pertaining to the register of nominee shareholders. This Guidance is not intended to be exhaustive and does not constitute legal advice. Foreign companies may wish to seek legal advice when in doubt.

2. REQUIREMENTS AT A GLANCE

Foreign companies are required to:

- keep a register of its nominee shareholders containing the particulars of the nominators of the company’s nominee shareholders (section 386ALA of the Companies Act);
- ensure that information in the register of nominee shareholders is updated within 7 days after being informed of any change (section 386ALA of the Companies Act); and
- produce this register and any related document to the Registrar, an officer of ACRA or a public agency, upon request (section 386AM of the Companies Act).

Nominee shareholders are required to inform their respective foreign companies of the fact that they are nominee shareholders and to provide the prescribed particulars of their nominators to their foreign companies within the applicable timelines.

Please note that the register of nominee shareholders and the register of registrable controllers¹ are separate and distinct registers. The definitions of “nominee shareholder”, and “registrable controller” are also different. Depending on the facts and circumstances of a case, an individual may be both, either or neither. The fact that an individual is a nominee shareholder does not by itself mean that the same individual is a registrable controller, and vice versa.

2.1 Exemptions

The following foreign companies are exempted:

- (a) a foreign company that is a Singapore financial institution²;
- (b) a foreign company that is a wholly-owned subsidiary³ of a foreign company that is a Singapore financial institution; and
- (c) a foreign company which shares are listed on a securities exchange in a country or territory outside Singapore and which is subject to — (i) regulatory disclosure requirements; and (ii) requirements relating to adequate

² For the definition of “Singapore financial institution”, please see paragraph 2 of the Fourteenth Schedule to the Companies Act.

³ Please see section 5B of the Companies Act, which contains the rules to be used to determine whether a foreign company is a wholly-owned subsidiary of another foreign company. For your easy reference, we reproduce section 5B below:

Definition of wholly owned subsidiary

5B. For the purposes of this Act, a corporation is a wholly owned subsidiary of another corporation if none of the members of the first-mentioned corporation is a person other than —

- (a) that other corporation;
- (b) a nominee of that other corporation;
- (c) a subsidiary of that other corporation being a subsidiary none of the members of which is a person other than that other corporation or a nominee of that other corporation; or
- (d) a nominee of such subsidiary.

transparency in respect of its beneficial owners, imposed through stock exchange rules, law or other enforceable means.

Foreign companies subject to requirements similar to the substantial shareholder notification and disclosure requirements under Part 7 of the Securities and Futures Act 2001 that listed companies have to comply with would qualify under (c).

Foreign companies that are undergoing winding up or striking off are not exempted, unless they qualify under (a), (b) or (c).

Please note that the exemptions only apply to the requirement on a foreign company keeping a register of nominee shareholders; they do not apply to the nominee shareholder's duty to provide information⁴. For example, a foreign company X that is a Singapore financial institution is not required to keep a register of nominee shareholders, but if X is a nominator of a nominee shareholder of a foreign company Y that is not exempted from the requirement on keeping a register of nominee shareholders, then the nominee shareholder is required to provide X's particulars to Y and X's particulars are required to be contained in Y's register of nominee shareholders.

3. OBLIGATIONS OF NOMINEE SHAREHOLDERS – DEFINITION, TIMELINES AND REQUIRED PARTICULARS

3.1 Obligations of nominee shareholders

Shareholders who are nominees should, within the applicable timelines, (i) inform their respective foreign companies of that fact and (ii) provide the particulars of their nominators.

In addition, nominee shareholders must inform their foreign companies when they cease to be a nominee and of any change to the nominator's particulars provided to the foreign company.

⁴ See section 386ALB of the Companies Act.

3.2 Definition of “nominee shareholders”

A shareholder is a nominee if the shareholder:

- (a) is accustomed or under an obligation (whether formal or informal) to vote, in respect of shares in the foreign company of which the shareholder is the registered holder, in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of any other person; and
- (b) receives dividends, in respect of shares in the foreign company of which the shareholder is the registered holder, on behalf of any other person.

3.3 Timelines

For the obligation for nominee shareholders to inform their foreign companies about their nominee shareholder status and to provide the particulars of their nominators, the applicable timelines depend on the date of incorporation of the foreign company.

- who becomes a nominee must inform the company of that fact and provide the particulars of the nominator within 30 days after the shareholder becomes a nominee.

For the obligation for nominee shareholders to inform their foreign companies about the cessation of their nominee shareholder status and/or update the particulars of nominators, the nominee shareholder must inform his foreign company:

- that he ceases to be a nominee within 30 days after the cessation; and
- of any change to the particulars provided to the foreign company within 30 days after the change.

Nominee shareholders must provide the following particulars of their nominators to their respective foreign companies:

For nominators who are individuals

- full name;
- aliases, if any;
- residential address;

The following are some examples of the name of the corporate entity register of the jurisdiction where the legal entity is formed or incorporated:

- If the legal entity is a local company incorporated under the Companies Act, the name of the register would be the Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority.
- If the legal entity is a company incorporated under the United Kingdom's Companies Act 2006, the name of the register would be UK Companies House.

⁵ "Legal form of the legal entity" refers to the type of legal entity that the nominator is. For example, if a nominator is a private company incorporated under the Singapore Companies Act, then the "legal form" of this nominator should be indicated as "Private company".
